Description

The AMERICA 35 is a walkaround boat designed by Ing. Giuseppe Cimino. Thanks to the in-depth study of the hull, the length/width ratio, the exasperated buoyancy and an appropriate variation of the hull angles, an excellent balance between volumes and resistance to progress has been obtained, so as to guarantee stable navigation, which can satisfy even speed lovers, even in rough seas. For the layout of the external areas of the deck of the AMERICA 35, the basic idea was to be able to guarantee, even on a boat, maximum habitability and freedom, even with 10 or 12 guests. In addition to the typical comfort of a walkaround, there is: the presence of a convivial area in the bow; a large sundeck, built on the central deckhouse; an area reserved for the command, protected by a large T-top, which also covers the cooking area and the dining area; of a large aft sundeck, built on a revolutionary structure suspended above the outboard engines. Last, but not least, a movable aft bridge that allows comfortable access to the sea. All this guarantees a pleasant day, perfect for those who love to experience the sea without compromise and without having to give up any comfort. The interiors of the AMERICA 35 are characterized by a single very large and bright room, ideal for four guests, with a generous height, a double bed in the bow, one in the stern and a comfortable bathroom amidships. In addition: a sofa with fridge on the left and wardrobes and wall units on the sides, characterized by an essential style. Innovative solutions have also been studied for this boat which, in addition to being comfortable for guests, are comfortable for professionals. By lowering the mobile bridge and raising the aft sundeck, in fact, it is possible to carry out all maintenance activities on the two
