Description

After many years of success, the Dufour 382, which began its career as the Dufour 365, leaves the scene and gives way to this new Dufour 390. Also designed by Umberto Felci who also brings the edge on the hull that extends to the bow on the Dufour.

More than an edge, we are actually talking about a knee, or a curve of the hull in its trajectory of ascent towards the gunwale that in an elegant way, makes the boat more livable with larger volumes and greater navigation comfort.
