galeon 375 gto

Description

Developed in collaboration with the Tony Castro Design Studio, the 375 leverages Galeon's decades of experience in boat building and its innovations to create a truly exceptional model that will join the GTO range in 2022. A quick glance outside reveals three areas vying for attention. Firstly, you notice the incredible glass sunroof, divided into two parts, which overlooks the helm station and which quickly retracts exposing the main deck and allowing easy access to the bow area. In the bow, the second surprise comes in the form of an oversized U-shaped resting area with neck support, which quickly transforms into a full-fledged sundeck and can accommodate six passengers. Finally, there is the cockpit area with folding platforms on the port and starboard sides that create balconies, expanding the usable space when stationary.

The 375 GTO is aimed at the driver by allowing you to open not only the sunroof but also the port and starboard side windows for better ventilation and a feeling of speed. The two-tone driving console can be equipped with triple screen to monitor performance, navigation and fish search at the same time, while both the seats and steering wheel are electrically adjusted - smart!
