Description

Weight matters, this single-deck inflatable boat was conceived with this motto, their light weights make them a real alternative for those who in recent years would have taken an inflatable keel but would have preferred a rigid keel for its performance.

Ultralites are spacious and strong, but just as light and easy to carry. These small boats can be launched and winged by one person and are easy to be transported on the roof of a car.

You will be impressed by their level of quality. The excellence of the finishes is comparable to the ergonomic details. The simple layout is combined with the clean design and the numerous standard accessories complete the picture.

They are made of powder-coated aluminum 2.5mm thick for the keel and 1100 Dtex fabric for the inflatable part.
