amer yachts Amer 120

Description

The AMER 120 is a motor yacht with a length of 35.50 m, a width of 7.4 m and a volume of 230 GT.

The yacht is designed to comfortably accommodate up to 10 guests in 5 suites. The master cabin is provided on the main deck. The crew area includes 3 cabins for 5 people.

The AMER 120 is built with fiberglass hull and fiberglass superstructure, with teak decks.

The AMER 120 is powered by 4 Volvo Penta (D13-IPS 1350) diesel engines with 1,350 hp. The cruising speed is 23/24 knots, the maximum speed is 26/27 knots. At cruising speed – the shipyard specifies – consumption is 550 liters per hour, for four engines, in a design process aimed at finding sustainability and reducing consumption and emissions.

In this context, an innovative hull construction system is inserted, in which the use of fiberglass has been reduced, because it is difficult to recycle. While the composite product remains for hull and superstructure, the side bulkheads have been largely replaced by glazing glued to the metal structure. With 97 square meters of windows, the contribution of natural light allows, in turn, a significant energy saving and the presence of two recesses generates a natural air circulation that avoids, in the living room, the use of the air conditioning system.
