Description

The Jeanneau 57, featuring 3 cabins each with their own bathroom, is an elegant offshore cruiser designed by Vittorio Garroni for easy handling and exceptional cruising. Every detail has been meticulously crafted to offer the highest quality sailing experience. Step aboard to a modern interior that honors a long nautical heritage, with fine materials throughout, including leather, light teak floors with bright carpets, and sleek windows and skylights that flood the interior with light.

This vessel is a prime example of fine craftsmanship, having been professionally maintained to the highest standards—just take a look at the equipment list. The rigging has been upgraded with an Axxom carbon fiber mast and Furlerboom, along with Elvstrøm Epex sails. Combined with a keel depth of 210 cm, these enhancements significantly improve her sailing performance over the standard model. Additionally, she is equipped with a custom radar mast and an aftermarket stern thruster.

The boat is in exceptional condition; the interior looks as good as new. She has always been stored indoors in a frost-free hall every winter, ensuring her condition is a perfect 10 on a scale of 1 to 10, considering her age.

Navigation equipment:

AIS, Depth Sounder (Raymarine), Log (Raymarine), Chartplotter (Raymarine), Radar (Raymarine).
