Description

On a Finot-Conq plan, the Oceanis 46.1 retains the characteristic redan hull of the 51.1.

In addition to the nautical performance and the large volumes that characterize it, this structure allows maximum use of the entire width of the cockpit. Safety and ease of use are favoured by an extremely effective deck plan. The mainsail furler, the self-tacking jib and the set of halyards and sheets on a single winch for each helm station facilitate manoeuvres with a reduced crew.

Diffusing clear natural light to the centre of the boat, the large portholes on the side allow you to enjoy the elegance of the interiors by Nauta Design. A choice of brushed light oak or mahogany woods recreate the atmosphere of yesteryear and are widely customisable.

At the same time easy to navigate, tolerant and agile, the Oceanis 46.1 plays a unique card, capable of conquering the most diverse crews. In addition to the pleasure of a life on board that has been thought out down to the smallest detail, there is also an extremely reassuring safety of use.
