Description

The A66 was built by two of the world's best design studios.

Nauta Design and Jim Pugh and John Reichel of the Californian studio of the same name.

These are the fundamental characteristics of the new 66-footer according to Nauta Design: "Modernity, handling, seduction: these are the key words of the project we created for Advanced Italian Yachts.

We have given the hull a new generation hull, with large load-bearing volumes at the stern; The aggressiveness of the hull is combined with deck geometries that communicate speed and efficiency. The almost 'oversized' dimensions of the cockpit invite you to relax on summer cruising, but the large glass surfaces of the deckhouse allow you to fully enjoy sailing in every season.

In the interiors, we wanted to create a welcoming atmosphere with a large central open space that takes light from the continuous 360° windows and the different functions in the different areas make life on board as comfortable as that of home".

The boat is in an excellent state of maintenance.

Immediate sale.
