Description

Despite its 11.50 m overall length, Ranieri International Next 370 SH is a watercraft and therefore does not require registration, an important requirement for boaters who prefer practical boats that are easy to handle. The acronym SH indicates the belonging to the Shadow family that over the years has allowed the brand excellent results from an economic and image point of view.

The bow houses a well-sized master cabin that can be completely separated from the hallway, while the second double berth amidships has both easy access and good volume. If necessary, the forward cabin also becomes a welcoming dinette thanks to the central element of the double bed that can be transformed into a table when raised.

The deck layout is characterized by an imposing center console that continues forward into a large solarium area. The driver's seat also incorporates the galley cabinet facing the stern where the dinette opens, which can be quickly transformed into a second solarium. The descent to the sea, facilitated by a passage to starboard, consists of two platforms that extend to the sides.

It is therefore a boat with a fairly traditional layout but developed with great taste and attention to detail, which thus creates a perfect combination of open spaces and interiors.
