Description

The new Cayman 35.0 Executive has as its prerogative the spaciousness that classifies it as a maxi-rib.

The bow is entirely covered with sun cushions well fixed with special straps and there is also a cushion above the skylight, which can be removed to give light to the cabin. The front of the console is also fully padded for comfortable leaning.

The navigation instruments are located on three different levels of the dashboard: two display panels, the control console and the pilot bench with independent lumbar supports.

The cockpit area, which extends over a large area, is bordered by three sofas and the galley cabinet with a drop-down bench. The latter completes the dining area around a table that emerges electrically and can also form a sundeck if necessary. The kitchen cabinet is considerable in size and includes two burners and a sink, while a drawer fridge is inserted forward.

The imposing roll-bar arch characterizes and serves to support two sun awnings.

Below deck there is a bathroom with free shower and grating on the bottom. Towards the bow, the dinette turns into a double bed and in the hallway there is a storage cabinet and a fridge. Towards the stern there is another berth for two. The dark or mirrored transparent glass of the skylight and portholes let in natural light, without revealing the interior.
