Founded in 1863, Burger Boat is one of the most renowned yacht builders in the United States. The shipyard is known for its craftsmanship, use of high-quality materials, and attention to detail. Burger Boat has built a wide variety of vessels, including luxury yachts and sailboats. Among Burger Boat's most iconic models are "Tamerlane": launched in 1931, it was at the time the largest private yacht in the world, "Elco PT-109": used by Lieutenant John F. Kennedy during World War II and "Sea Cloud": a magnificent five-masted sailing ship, launched in 1931 and still sailing today. Hull number 078B built in 1959 was the Sally.

Imported directly from the USA and thanks to a masterful refit, Sally is reborn as a jewel of the sea with a technological heart of the future

Sally's story is enriched with a new chapter, a total refit that has transformed this vintage boat into a masterpiece of conservative restoration combined with cutting-edge technology.

From the bare hull to the rebirth: The refit involved every single element, starting from the bare hull, restored to its original condition with the direct support of the parent company. Every detail has been restored with obsessive care, to keep Sally's vintage charm intact.

Invisible technology at the service of vintage charm: The technical part has been completely renewed with the latest generation components: motors, generator,
