Description

The 30-meter PAOLUCCI yacht was built entirely of wood in 1970 by the historic Picchiotti shipyard in Viareggio. Built at the time for the Italian Navy, it entered service on 12 September 1970 as a military ship and fast ambulance in sea rescue operations. It was named R. PAOLUCCI in honor of Raffaele Paolucci, an Italian doctor, soldier and politician, who fought both world wars and is considered a hero in Italy. Later it became the yacht used for the Presidency of the Italian Republic, it was used by the Presidents of Italy from 1971 until 2006 for reasons of representation. Meetings, parties and events for the Presidency were organized on board.

Giordano Fabiani, fascinated by the history and origins of the PAOLUCCI, decided to buy the yacht in June 2006 and carry out a meticulous restoration project while managing to preserve the elegance of the original boat.
