Description

BOAT IN EXCELLENT CONDITION. 4 CABINS

At 24 metres (78 feet), it features ample space and a choice of finishes and solid teak instead of the traditional cherry wood used in Ferretti Yachts yachts of this size. Entering the saloon of the new Ferretti 780 from the cockpit, it is immediately noticeable how the arrangement of the furnishings allows you to make the most of the living area, equipped with highly sophisticated audio-video equipment. The new layout with the access ladder to the flying bridge integrated into the boat's bulwark offers a continuous visual solution, from stern to bow. The dining area, separated by a step from the living room, houses a table for eight people, while under the staircase there is a bar cabinet with an opal glass door illuminated inside. From the dining area it is possible to reach the helm station and the ladder for the descent below deck on the right, the large teak galley on the left and the side door for the external exit, which allows the crew not to cross the saloon, thus protecting the privacy of the owner and his guests. The helm station, with scratch-resistant anthracite grey finishes, can be equipped with all the latest generation technology that distinguishes Ferretti Yachts yachts: the Naviop control system and ARG gyroscopic stabilizers. Next to the helm station there is a comfortable L-shaped sofa that allows the owner to share moments of navigation with family and guests. A pull-out coffee table close to the sofa offers a comfortable dinette. Going below deck, you enter the owner's cabin, located on the port and completely soundproofed from the engine area thanks to the interposition of the crew quarters and the tank. To make the most of the two large windows, with opening portholes - now a distinctive feature of Ferretti
