Description

A careful and careful study of the spaces combined with a detailed craftsmanship has allowed to obtain spaces that can only be used as on larger boats. With these assumptions, the Giglio 29 was born, following the philosophy of the shipyard to offer boats suitable for fishing for a specialized and demanding user. Behavior at sea of the boat always sincere and safe in the face of a good diesel engine in line of the axle synonymous with less maintenance, limited consumption and total reliability. Used materials of the highest quality. The hull that incorporates the quality standards of the superior boats offers a pronounced bow V and the transmission with semi-intubated propeller to obtain the correct inclination of the axis at 8 degrees with inclined inverter allowing the engine to work flat for a longer life of the propulsion apparatus itself. Large aft cockpit customizable for the various fishing techniques and a large sundeck at the bow reachable by large side passages. Fiberglass back closure with hinged door and large tempered glass glazing with opening sides
