Description

This Pershing 92 is a high performance motor yacht built by the famous Italian shipyard Pershing and designed by the none less famous designer and naval architect, Fulvio De Simoni. She is still under her original ownership and was recently repainted in Pershing's grey metallic paint (in 2024).

She is fitted with 2 MTU engines producing 2.638 Hp each and Searex surface drives allowing the yacht to reach 36 knots cruising speed and 41 knots top speed! She has a very generous main deck. Separating the salon from the aft deck is an electrical sliding glass door that lowers completely into the floor. The discreet sun deck located on the upper deck, offers a large lounging area with table, benches, sunbeds as well as a driving station.

The lower deck is well designed and laid out with the 4 cabins, 4 ensuite bathrooms and a guest day head. The crew area is located at the stern and is fitted with the galley, two cabins (3 crew) and two bathrooms. The owner is an experienced yachtsman and has found his next project.
