The VPLP design studio has been able to renew the balance between the various living areas. The Lagoon 46 combines modular sundecks at the stern and bow, a complete galley at the stern, practical and safe access to the sea, while retaining large volumes in the saloon in which Nauta Design can find full expression.

Designed by Nauta Design, the interiors of the Lagoon 46 are characterized by a refined, elegant and functional style. The private owner's spaces are generous, with an island bed offering maximum comfort. The other cabins of the catamaran are just as spacious, especially the bow cabin where the bed has nothing to envy compared to the aft solutions. To improve the quality of life on board, particular attention is paid to the finishes and interior brightness.

The Lagoon 46 is a high-performance boat, an expression of the new Lagoon catamarans DNA:

- an optimized sail plan to improve the sail area/displacement ratio
- a rearward mast, the result of VPLP design's experience in the world of racing,
