Description

The Colombo Aliante 32 is a boat characterized by a sober and clean line. In fact, the deck appears clean thanks to the equipment contained to the maximum. Distinctive elements are the tapered air intakes of the engine compartment and the wraparound windshield perfectly integrated into the hull bulwarks.

The Aliante 32 can be considered an excellent day cruiser designed for quick daytime excursions and water skiing.

The boat in question, launched in 1991, is in very good general condition thanks to the continuous attention of the current owner and the major refitting carried out in 2015. Many works have been carried out including:
