Description

This boat, unique in its kind, is in perfect general condition. The hull was conceived by two designers from the aeronautical industry. In fact, it is constructed of 'Duralumin', a type of aluminium that is as hard as steel. Thanks to this material, it was possible to obtain a very light but at the same time very resistant structure. The Coventry Climax FWE engine, manufactured in this famous UK city, was completely overhauled by the current owner in 2020. The boat sits on a custom-designed and manufactured road trailer, with new tonneaux and fenders. This particular runabout has never been used in salt water. Additional information on request
