Description

Pardo GT52 confirms a design in which the central element is the continuity between interior and exterior. The combination of the access door to the saloon, the opening side windows and the sliding roof, make the main deck of Pardo GT52 an extraordinary open-air loft overlooking the sea.

Clear, unmistakable hull lines, with the reverse bow typical of the Pardo Yachts family, frame a layout of the outdoor spaces that favors relaxation areas. The design choices of the Pardo GT52 underline the attention to the space dedicated to guests: three people can comfortably relax on the bow sundeck, while another eight can enjoy lunch sitting at the cockpit table.

The offered configuration includes the following accessories:

Set of 6 hull portholes that can be opened for increased ventilation in lowerdeck environments (n°1 in the day bathroom, n°3 in the owner's cab, n°2 in the third cabin)

Synthetic teak swimming platform, walkways, bow deck and band head, grey comento

Retractable electric gangway

Panoramic sunroof with electric blind

Long stern swim platform, with electric up and down system

Ladder integrated into the long stern swim platform

2 folding cleats on the aft platform for tender or jet ski

Bathroom ladder with handrail

Outdoor dining consisting of an electric table with up-and-down system, extra cushions and reclining backrests
