Description

Following a change in the owners' personal circumstances, the boat must be sold quickly, which is reflected in a particularly attractive asking price, offering a genuine opportunity on the market.

The boat has not been used for over a year, which explains this pricing strategy. It will require recommissioning and a general overhaul (engine, sails, routine maintenance), allowing the future owner to start from a clean and reliable base, while carrying out the work according to their own standards.

A sound vessel with strong potential, offered under very appealing financial conditions for a buyer willing to invest in bringing her back into service.
