Built in Holland by Porsius Shipyard B.V., it was designed by De Vries Lentsch.

The interiors are well-kept and elegant. 2 refittings were carried out.

The second refit, which lasted almost two years and was completed in 2012, involved a 3-meter transom extension, the addition of an integral bathing platform, an extension of the covered aft deck and the boat's deck. All new guest cabins and bathrooms have been renovated, new paint job and teak decks.

A service bathroom, with a Blue Bahia marble washbasin, is centrally located on the main deck, in the lobby between the owner's suite and the main salon and adjacent to the circular staircase that accesses the guest quarters and the wheelhouse.

The office on the starboard side leads to the owner's cabin. The office is equipped with a bookcase and exercise bike. There is space for a desk, previously removed but left on the boat.

Large en-suite bathroom with marble sink (2012), walk-in shower with bench (2016), W.C. and bidet. Air conditioning with fresh air ventilation system completes the bathroom.

Three guest cabins on the lower deck, two cabins with a double bed and a twin cabin with a pullman bed. All cabins have a private bathroom with marble sink, Corian-covered shower cubicles with marble inlays. Each cabin is equipped with air conditioning with fresh air exchange; opening portholes, large wall units and storage space. The bathrooms have bamboo floors and the cabins are fully upholstered.

Full-beam master cabin with queen size bed, desk, a double wardrobe and large drawers. There is crew access for service behind a mirror and a watertight door.

Two double guest cabins, desk and double wardrobe hangers. The private bathroom, with shower cubicle, washbasin in white and gray Calcutta marble.

There are two cabins: the captain's has a double berth and the sailor's has 2 beds. Each cabin is equipped with a shower cubicle, as well as air conditioning.

Both cabins were rebuilt in 2019 and the bathroom and captain's cabin in 2015.
